

King Coal returns to the battleground

Twenty four years after the miners' strike, coal is at the centre of a new battle. On 9 August activists attempted to close down Kingsnorth power station, protesting against government plans to build a new

The Government's Department for Business,